DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Species M, figure 14 in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that: claim 1 is generic to figures 11 and 13; figures 11, 13, 14 are directed to "heating means"; and non burdensome search. This is not found persuasive because applicant has failed to distinguish that the species are not patentably distinct. Applicant's assertion of non burdensome search is unsupported by facts.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claim 25 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in Paper No. 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim1, 23, 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gentil (3,482,929).

Art Unit: 3752

Gentil discloses a device comprising: a housing a; a volatile substance b; means for orienting d; means for controllably releasing (column 2, lines 57-62); means for heating f. Applicant is required to identify the "means for controllably releasing" in Species M, figure 14 in the response to this Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gentil (3,482,929) in view of DeLuca (4,294,778).

Gentil discloses the limitations of claimed invention with the exception of the means for increasing circulation. Deluca discloses a means for increasing circulation 400. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have provided a fan to the device of Gentil as taught by Deluca to provide forced air (Deluca, column 8, lines 9-10).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sharma and Peck disclose drip dispensers. Muramoto et al. discloses a heater for an emanator material.
